2019 Senior Art Show

Lycoming College Art Gallery in downtown Williamsport will once again open its doors to the community for the annual juried exhibition featuring the thesis works of Lycoming College graduating senior art students. The Lycoming College Juried Senior Show is the culmination of thesis projects for all seniors with a major in studio art. All studio art majors are required to produce a cohesive body of professional thesis work, and must be chosen by an outside juror to exhibit in the Senior Show in order to graduate. This year's juror is Vincent Cianni, a documentary photographer who uses image, text, and audio to investigate issues that focus on advocacy, social justice, human and civil rights, community, and memory. The exhibition will run through May 11. Open 4pm-8pm on First Friday.
